III. Here there is an example for you to follow:

The Strange Man

There was a sunny morning when Samantha went out for a birthday party at her best friend house. She took the bus downtown to the city because she needed to buy a present for her friend and while she was thinking about that, a strange guy was looking at her. The man was holding a dog and he looked worried and sad, but just when the bus stopped near to the shopping mall and she got off the bus, then she realized the strange man got off following her too. The man shouted her “sorry girl, wait can you help me?” Samantha looked back and the man explained her that his little dog was ill, and it needed a vet, but he was new in town and he did not know where to go. Samantha remember that there was a pet’s hospital near the cafeteria or maybe behind the church’s park. She wasn’t sure about the correct address of the pet’s hospital, but she tried to explain to the man. “You need to go straight to that church, then turn right and at the end of the street you will see a park and maybe there is a pet’s hospital” The man looked confused and worried for the little dog so he said “Please help me, my dog is ill it needs attention right now!” Samantha told him that she was hurried for a meeting so she cannot go with him. “Sorry I can’t go with you, I am late for my best friend’s birthday party and I don’t have any present for her, I have to go and buy it now” The man looked so sad and disappointed that she decided to go with him to the vet’s hospital. As soon as the traffic lights turn green, they crossed the street and finally they arrived at the place. The vet told to the man that his little dog had a stomach-ache problem but with the correct medication it will be fine again. Samantha was worried about time, so she looked at the clock and it was half past four. She was late but she noticed a beautiful black cat and she decided that it would be the best present for her birthday’s friend. She adopted the cat and the man thanks her for helping him to save his little dog.
